Your perspective

FCN is a network of volunteers from the farming community and rural churches, providing a national helpline and visiting service to farming people and families facing difficulties. They provide pastoral and practical support for as long as it is needed, helping people to find a positive way forward through their problems. FCN works closely with local churches and other local support groups providing a similar service.

Please explain whether or not you believe this applicant will be a suitable volunteer for FCN and why.
